

Download Thank Parents For Attending Open House Letter

I'm writing this letter because I don't think these phone calls are a good enough service to you. I don't think I've given you enough of my time, and when I do give it, it's not even given with my full attention. Dear Working Mother, Do you send your child to a daycare center miles away from your home and workplace? Daycare is expensive. And with gas prices what they are, traveling to and from your daycare center can eat deep into your finances. You're invited to Cal Poly's Open House: April 11 - 13, 2019 This annual event showcases the Cal Poly campus to new students, their families, and the community while offering a glimpse to life as a Mustang. Dear Mom and Dad, Well, I made it! After many busy weeks and months of attempting to balance my academic and social life, I have finally completed fall semester. I cannot begin to explain how nice it has been to have this nice break from classes and come back home to be with you. However, we are abou...
